SMILE DOCTORS

BRACES

Hello! My name is Lindsay Towler, and I am the orthodontist at Smile Doctors Braces. Raised in the “Sooner State” of Oklahoma, my love for Colorado began when I met my husband Ben. A fellow Okie, he was living in Vail but home visiting family during mud season when we connected at a Thunder basketball game. I knew he was special, and spent the next year visiting him monthly in Vail while I finished my DDS degree at the University of Oklahoma. I then attended the University of Colorado for my orthodontic residency and master’s degree, making the visit to Vail more convenient. Since our love story grew in the Vail valley, we married at Piney River Ranch and always knew we wanted to raise our family in the mountains.

While visiting friends in Edwards, I introduced myself to Dr. Bishop, and he became my mentor and friend. When he asked me to take over his practice with Smile Doctors, I couldn’t say yes fast enough. We moved to Eagle County last September and have enjoyed making this community our home. In addition to the new job and home, we added a member to our family this July, Owen, who we look forward to having join us on the hiking trails and ski slopes soon!

My interest in orthodontics stems from my own experience in braces as a teen. My front tooth never erupted, and bullies called me “gap girl” until I had a surgery procedure to fix it. Once the tooth was there, it wasn’t straight, and my crooked teeth brought on more insecurities. After two years of braces, extractions, head gear, and rubber bands, I finally had a beautiful smile and felt confident for the first time in my life. It was then that I knew I wanted to create smiles and instill confidence in kids and adults as my profession.

I love interacting with people, and being an orthodontist lets me talk with my patients and get to know families and individuals beyond their teeth.

Smile Doctors was the perfect fit for me because of their people-focused culture and company motto: People First, Straighten Teeth Second. It is the people behind the smiles that motivate everything I do each day. I am privileged to work with the amazing patients and team that I do and look forward to taking care of the families in Eagle County!
